ANNUAL REPORTS.

TO THE LEGAL VOTERS OF THE TOWN OF OLD ORCHARD :

Having carefully examined the several accounts of the Selectmen, Assesors, Overseers of the Poor and Treasurer, for the year ending January 31, 1900, I find them correctly drawn and vouched for.

AUSTIN H. FISKE, AUDITOR.

ASSESSORS' REPORT.

NEW VALUATION.

Agreeably to a vote of the town, last spring, the Assessors undertook the rather serious task of making a new valuation of all the real and personal property within town limits, from personal inspection. When it is remembered that there are nearly five thousand pieces of taxable property, including about nine hundred hotels and cottages, distributed among nearly fifteen hundred tax payers, with a total worth of a million and a half of dollars, it will be seen that it was no summer pastime that the assessors and their assistants had on their hands. Our object was to make an up-to-date valuation, as nearly equal as possible, having regard to location and condition, regardless of the old figures which had come down to us from the days when we were a part of Saco. The valuation of 1898, on the old one-half basis, footed up $662,000. In 1899 under the new adjustment, we found property to the value of $880,000, in round numbers. In this is included the new property and quite a handsome addition of property discovered by the assessors which had not been taxed previously. The new taxable property to be added this year will increase the total valuation to considerably above $900,000.

In fixing the tax value of the landed property, the assessors made a special study of the sea-wall belt lying between the B. & M. R. R. and the beach, and running the entire length of the town. The true wealth source of Old Orchard is its incomparable ocean front, and the miles of this sea-wall belt have steadily increased in value until they have become really gilt-edge property. We found much of this property paying taxes on a merely nominal valuation, made years ago, when the best land at the beach was scarcely worth paying taxes for. A moderate raise has been made all along the line, especially on the shore front lots, equalized and graduated according to the size and location. The fact that nearly all of this class of property is now practically out of the market, must lead to a rapid increase of values, and will render necessary an early revaluation of the entire shore line belt.

REPORT OF OVERSEERS OF POOR.

The poor department shows a falling off in numbers and expenditures, from last year. Mrs. J. K. Patterson and Thomas Lynch have died during the year. David Gowen is now the only permanent town charge outside the Insane Hospital at Augusta, where we now have four patients, namely: Mary J. Googins, Joshua K. Patterson, Douglass Robinson and Rosilla Blake. While the law required that Miss Blake should be committed to the Hospital from Old Orchard, we contend that she has her legal settlement in Biddeford, and the matter has been placed in the hands of our town agent for adjustment.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

FINANCIAL CONDITION.

Our financial condition as a town, shows a marked change over that of one year ago, and has reached a stage which calls for careful study by tax payers. At the close of the fiscal year 1898-99, the town debt was $18,597.60. At the close of the present year, January 31, 1900, it is nearly doubled, by the addition of a lump debt of $16,000.00 to the amounts overdrawn for necessary expenses in the regular town departments, making the total debt $30,000.00 in round numbers. Of this, $26,000 are in 4 per cent. bonds, the balance of floating debt being placed at 4½ to 5 per cent. This large increase of the bonded debt means also an increase of taxation, to pay interest, insurance, for fuel, and care of town property. On a practically two-thirds valuation, our tax rate last year was 18 mills. The question which now confronts us is not—How much can this rate be reduced? but how much more can we stand? the selectmen have given considerable anxious study to this matter of taxes, and in view of the pressing needs for large outlays in the street, sidewalks, sewers and street lights departments, in their opinion the tax rate cannot be kept below 20 mills the present year, with a prospect that it will go considerably higher, unless the most rigid economy is practiced.

It has been the practice, ever since our town was organized to make small appropriations, and then overdraw them as necessity required, on the ground, presumably, that it was less burdensome to increase the debt than to increase taxation—that to pay interest money is better than to pay the principal. No more mischievous fallacy in finance could be entertained.

The town or private citizen adopting such a course is on the high road to bankruptcy. The family, that runs a pass-book, buys many articles which it would never touch if it paid cash. So with the town that does business on credit. The condition which we as a town are confronted with to-day, is clear proof of this proposition. If we are honest, and we cannot afford to be otherwise, we, or our children must pay every dollar of these debts, and there are but two methods of doing this open to us—by taxation, or under the auctioneer's hammer. The constitution of Maine wisely provides that no city or town shall incur debts in excess of five per cent of its gross valuation. Notwithstanding that we have a valuation of nearly $900,000, we are carrying a debt only $10,000 less than our debt limit, and we are scarcely 17 years old. The primary school class in mental arithmetic can foretell when that limit will be reached, at the pace we are now going.

In the opinion of this board the time is fully come to call a halt in debt increase, and to "about face." Let us appropriate money enough to pay necessary town charges, with a proper allowance for contingencies; instruct our municipal officers to keep carefully within the appropriations, and then stop borrowing money, except in anticipation of taxes. That the future business and financial prosperity of Old Orchard depend upon a strict enforcement of these simple propositions, we are firmly convinced.

STREETS AND SIDEWALKS.

The steady yearly increase of our street mileage is beginning to call for larger appropriations for this department. We have now more than 25 miles of accepted streets, a portion of them in an unfinished condition. As the main portion of our streets run over sand bottoms, large quantities of gravel are required to make them passable, involving a heavy expense to purchase and transport. Negotiations have been begun with the B. & M. R. R. Co. for the delivery of gravel by them at different points along the line of their road in this town, which, if favorably completed, will, we believe, reduce the cost to us of this all-important road-building material.

Our sidewalk system calls for special attention. Brick walks have been laid in some of the most frequented streets, but the work of building permanent sidewalks has as yet scarcely begun. The plank walk on west Grand Avenue should be replaced by brick the present year, and brick, concrete or gravel should displace the expensive and unsatisfactory plank walks on all our streets as rapidly as possible, excepting only in such places as require bridging or raised walks. Good sidewalks are a necessity for the accommodation of our summer visitors, and as such they become an important factor in building up and maintaining Old Orchard as the great summer resort of the future. The appropriation in this department has been considerably overdrawn, but only as necessity seemed to demand. Every dollar expended for improvement of sidewalks, we believe, has been a judicious investment.

SEWERS.

The sewer question touches a vital spot in our town economy. Healthful surroundings are what the summer guest seeks and expects to find at a seaside resort. During the travel season there are ten to twelve thousand who eat and sleep here—at times twice that number. Earth closets and wooden sink spouts will not do. Nothing less than a perfectly working sewer service will fully meet our needs and insure the town against a filth epidemic. We have spent thousands of dollars for sewers, and yet we are far from having a complete sewer service. Carrying the sewage to the sea, appears to be the most feasible plan for disposing of it; but unless properly done, even this scheme is more than likely to return to plague its inventor. We now have three mains running to sea and discharging at a distance of 200 feet beyond low water mark. The pipe running out from the foot of Old Orchard street has, for a few years past, given evidence of being overworked, until it has become a good deal of a nuisance in summer. Something should be done about it. It is the opinion of the Superintendent of Sewers that a proper remedy would be to tap Grand Avenue sewer 1200 to 1500 feet west of Old Orchard street, and carry another main to sea from that point, thus relieving the congestion at the foot of Old Orchard street, and by dividing the sewage deposits, render unpleasant results from the inflow less likely than now. Ocean Park is also clamorous for a sewer system. It certainly needs one. But when we begin to figure the cost of these very necessary improvements, we are staggered a little. To meet what now seems to be urgently demanded in the sewer department would call for $2,000 to $3,000 at once, with more to follow. Can we afford these improvements? or, more properly, can we afford to do without them? The town must answer.

REPORT OF CHIEF ENGINEER OF FIRE DEPARTMENT.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF SELECTMEN AND THE CITIZENS OF OLD ORCHARD :

In accordance with the requirements of the town ordinance governing the Fire Department, it again becomes my duty to submit my annual report of the condition of this department. We have been very fortunate as regards fires for the past year, a slight fire at the Velvet being the only one so far, and this was caused by the boiler flue being placed too near unprotected woodwork. Damage was small.

I would state that the membership of the department is complete and efficient, and all the apparatus in good working order. We are well supplied with hose for several years to come, as I have purchased small quantities every year; replacing the old hose, so that which we have in present use is good to withstand the hydrant or steamer pressure. In fact I have gradually and with the least possible cost, put the Fire Dept. in a first class condition as regards the apparatus. The men are always ready and willing to do their duty, down to the torch boys, as the work they have done in saving property in years past will amply testify.

There seems to be a spirit of carping criticism in the minds of some of our residents, and they do not hesitate to slur and find fault with the fire department in such manner as to injure their own and others property. I understand that some of this talk has reached the ears of the insurance commissioners, and they promptly raised the rates of insurance a few years ago. I submit to you, gentlemen and fellow citizens, if this is a right way to do our town business. I wish you to understand me as raising no personal grievance, as personally I care nothing about this malicious criticism, for I have always tried to do my duty to the best of my ability while in charge of the department. For the good of the town, would it not be a better policy for all the tax payers to get together and endeavor to get these excessive rates of insurance reduced; for with our facilities for putting out fires, this could and should be done.

At a called town meeting last spring, slimly attended, by a vote of about thirty, mostly non property taxpayers, it was voted to build a town building, and commodious rooms for the Fire Dept.; in fact, "to have good quarters for the Fire Dept.," was the principal argument at this meeting. A committee was authorized to purchase a lot and build, under the approval of the selectmen; but this committee has been a close corporation up to the present time, misunderstanding their duties as appointed to serve the citizens of the town. They have made contracts and put up a building without consulting the town's people or the selectmen, as I understand; in fact putting up the structure to suit themselves; as one member of the committee publicly stated, he "made this town," and it looks as if he intended to finish it.

This committee was sharply called to order in the next called town meeting being directed by unanimous vote of that meeting to have their plans and contracts submitted to the Board of Selectmen for their approval. Also, by a vote of that meeting, this committee was directed to confer with the Chief of the Fire Dept., in regard to the space allotted for its use. The committee obeyed the letter of this order, but not the spirit. I held a conference with this committee on two separate occasions; at the second interview, I was told that if the whole department requested it, they would make no change in their plans. After this rebuff, it was of no further use to consult with them; and I then filed a statement of my case with the Board of Selectmen, copies of which I herewith attach. (See page—.)

I have endeavored to conduct the negotiations with this committee in a spirit of fairness and what would be for the best interests of the Fire Dept., not entirely upon my own judgment, but by personal observation of buildings as used in other towns and cities which I have visited, and I feel justified in saying that a large majority of our citizens will coincide with me that the space allotted for the Fire Dept. in this new building is entirely unsuited for its use. Indeed we are more advantageously situated in our present location than we would be in the new building. As this duty to confer with this committee was imposed on me by vote of the town, I have made this report to show you that I have tried to do my duty in the matter, but owing to the peculiar attitude of this committee, my efforts have been fruitless. It will need stronger words and yet stronger actions by you, Voters of Old Orchard, to rebuke and restrain this committee, (not your committee) for they have forgotten the power that gave them birth; they are not your agents or servants, but your masters, as you will discover when you come to pay the costs of this useless structure unsuited as; it undoubtedly is for the more important purposes of the town, especially so for the use of the Fire Dept. The following reports, which I made to the selectmen after my conference with the committee, show that the space for our apparatus is not suitable; and it does not come in my province to criticize the other parts of the building. However, I cannot forbear a single remark. The public library, which costs the town only $200 a year and doesn't go out of doors at all, is given a street frontage in the new building of thirty-six feet, while the fire department, which the town supports at a cost of about $2,800 a year for the protection of its property amounting to nearly a million and a half of dollars, and doing all of its work out of doors, is given a frontage of twenty feet! It may be competent for our townsmen to inquire if this brand of wisdom has been displayed in planning other parts of the building.

In order to obtain any reduction in our present rates of insurance, we must have our Fire Dept. up to date, with sufficient space to take out each machine separately and quickly, in the building which we occupy. No board of Selectmen would think of showing the rooms, as planned in this building, to the Board of Underwriters as an argument for a reduction of insurance.

Respectfully submitted

J. I. MACKEY,

Chief Engineer of the Fire Department

Addition Makes the Quarters More Commodius and Convenient.

The addition to the Saco Engine house on Thornton avenue is wide enough to allow the old engine to stand free from the wall so that the near horse can get into his position and there is a wide space between the engine and the hose carriage. Two iron posts stand where the wall of the old building was, but do not interfere at all with the interior arrangement.

The front doors are separate and give the men and horses lots of room. The rear door has been widened so that the horses can get out with greater ease than before. The stalls should be about ten or twelve feet nearer the apparatus, but this change will come in due season. The rods for the drivers to descend to the floor are convenient for all the hitches. In the rear of the new part is a small office and reception room where visiting firemen and other guests may be entertained.

The hose carriage has been made safer by Chief Chellis who had the big rod,—which the firemen clutch as they are picked up when en route to a fire,—set back from over the rear wheels and extended down to the floor of the step. This avoids the likelihood of the men falling into the wheels, as some have come within an ace of doing several times.

(FROM BOSTON GLOBE.)

Speaking of the Portland fire department, Chief Eldridge said: "The department needs to be thoroughly reorganized. We need more call men, as well as more regulars. We ought to to have the central fire station remodeled.

Then we ought to have better quarters in the western section of the city. The eastern section is well provided for as it is, but there should be better quarters at the other end of the city.

REPORT SUBMITTED TO SELECTMEN,

NOV. 13, 1899.

HONORABLE BOARD OF SELECTMEN OF THE TOWN OF OLD ORCHARD, ME.

Gentlemen: I beg leave to submit to your honorable board the conclusions (or lack of same) that have resulted from the duty imposed on me by vote of the Town at our last Special Town Meeting to confer (as Chief of Fire Department) with the Building Committee authorized to construct a Town Building, in regard to the space set apart for the use of the Fire Department. Obedient to the act as voted, I had a conference with the said committee on the following day and submitted to them a plan (a copy of which is attached) to enlarge the quarters as designed by the architect for the Fire Dept., which is entirely too small for the apparatus and the proper handling of the same.

You will see that I suggested there should be at least 15 ft. of front space for each machine, Steamer, Hose Wagon, and Ladder Truck, and sufficient depth also, at least 40 feet.

Your committee expressed themselves that my plan required too much space and more than was needed for the apparatus, and they appointed two of their members to visit the cities of Saco, Biddeford, and Portland, to examine the engine houses there. On their return they reported to me that they had taken measurements of the engine houses and had gotten opinions from the firemen and the Chief of Portland, and that they were firmly convinced that the room in the building as designed, was amply sufficient for the needs of the Old Orchard Fire Department for fifteen years to come.

The member who visited Portland was well pleased with the Machigonne Engine House, No. 1, as being nearly the size of the one now building here ; the Chief told him that we could get along with ours as well as they could with theirs ; but there were some objections, as there was not room enough for the horses to come out properly, and there was liability of accidents.

Not being satisfied with this report in my mind, I took the trouble to visit all the above cities personally, and confer with the chiefs and members of the fire depts. I found that this committee had returned with very erroneous impressions of the needs of a Fire Dept. of the present day, having in fact only taken measurements in every instance of those engine houses that were built from 40 to 50 years ago for old hand engines (or tubs,) the necessity being then for a deep and narrow building, as the hose reel was attached to the rear of the engine and all went out together.

At present the drivers of engine and hose wagon find these old houses too small or narrow, but owing to the depth of the rooms they can use them by placing one machine in the rear of the other. Not one of the firemen in either of these cities would advise building rooms of these dimensions, 18 to 20 feet wide and 50 feet deep for the use of one engine and one hose wagon.

I find that the chiefs and drivers of these three cities are unanimous in their opinions that each machine should have at least 15 feet of space frontage for each machine, and depth according to the length of each machine, and on that plan are all the newer engine houses built, No 4 in Portland being 32 feet wide by 40 feet in depth, with stalls beyond, 10 ft. and space in rear of stalls 12 ft by width of building for cleaning horses; this building is occupied by one engine and one hose wagon. Saco has lately repaired and enlarged her fire quarters to secure as near as possible 15 ft frontage for each of her machines. [See extract from Biddeford Journal elsewhere.]

Now I submit to you, gentlemen, if it is the proper thing to do to build rooms for our Fire Dept. of a size that other towns find inadequate; to build on a plan of 50 years ago when the fire apparatus was radically different from the present time, or, to build more nearly up to date, and something that would not have to be altered over in a few years at great expense.

The Hose tower as being built is entirely too small and situated in the front of the room and a very unhandy place to take the hose in and out, besides continually making a litter at the front of the room and no chance for washing the hose. Architects never to my knowledge, design a house with a kitchen and wash room on the front, where they usually put the parlors.

There seems to be well founded objections to putting the horse stables inside of the main building as designed by the architect. The committee propose to build an outside stable at the front. In my judgment and in conformity with other engine houses examined, it would be better to have the stables in the rear and separate from the main building by an air shaft.

The committee seem satisfied that the architect has made a mistake in the dimensions for our apparatus, as he put the ladder truck, the hose wagon, the engine, and horse stable, all in a room, 20 by 48 feet, with no hay loft; and to lead the horses out by all this apparatus every day to their work, and they propose to store the ladder truck in the basement. There are several objections to this scheme, first: it will be very difficult to get it out and in, and owing to the dampness the extension ladders will refuse to extend when wanted; and it will take a great deal of time to get the horse to it and get it out. It would be better to have it on the same floor with the engine and hose wagon.

The members of the Fire Dept., and a great number of the citizens of Old Orchard have expressed themselves to me that the space in this building is entirely too small for the use of the Fire Dept., as now planned by the building committee; and in their behalf I protest against putting the department in such ill arranged quarters where we would be worse handicapped than we are in our present location.

Trusting as the representatives of the tax payers of the town, gentlemen, you will give this matter the attention it deserves, I

Respectfully submit this statement,

J. I. MACKEY,

Chief Engineer Fire Department.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT TO SELECTMEN,

NOV. 17, 1899.

THE HONORABLE BOARD OF SELECTMEN, OLD ORCHARD, ME.

Gentlemen: Since handing you the statement in regard to the space required in the town building for the Fire Dept., my attention has been called to the matter in another way: that room already existing in the building can be utilized to give an amount of room that would answer for our Fire Dept. purposes, although it would not be as convenient as the addition proposed in my former statement, but would be a saving in expense if that should enter into the calculations; but it seems to me gentlemen, that the Fire Dept. is fully as important as any other department in the town, and should have as full consideration in every respect.

The alterations that I would suggest are these: to cut through on the southerly side of the hose tower, building the front out on a line with same, and taking the space allotted for the firemen's room and water closets back to the transverse partition, removing the water closets to the next room adjoining which I see by the plan is marked "spare room"; this will give us room for the hose wagon, and also give us room to handle the hose, and to use the present hose tower as constructed according to the plans herewith attached; and by putting the ladder truck close against the north wall we would have room for that and the engine in the other room as built by putting the horse stalls in a separate building on the southerly side of this room and using the loft over this room for hay. A hay loft is very essential and something we could not get along without.

If these changes are acceptable to your committee, I should like to confer with the constructor as to some minor changes in the rooms such as a trap door under the engine; a pipe and hood over the smoke stack connected with the chimney; and a stairway connecting with the basement and the hayloft; and the hinges for doors, etc.

Gentlemen, if there is room to spare for all the other departments in this building, why is it that the Fire Department must be crowded and shifted down cellar and around corners to get along any way it can?

Respectfully Submitted,

J. I. MACKEY,

Chief of Fire Department.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE TOWN OF OLD ORCHARD, ME. :

I herewith submit my annual report as Superintendent of Schools, as required by law.

At the last town election, Mrs. Katie L. Luce was elected to succeed John E. Webber as a member of the Superintending School Committee, Mr. Webber's term of office having expired. At the organization of the School Board, the Committee consisted of Jared Whitman, Fred W. Ellsworth, and Katie L. Luce. Jared Whitman was elected chairman for the ensuing year, the Superintendent acting as Secretary ex-officio. In the fall, Mr. Ellsworth, moving away, a vacancy was created in the Board which will necessitate the choosing of two new members at the March election; Mrs. Luce's term of office also expiring at that time.

The year on the whole has been a successful one, and it is safe to say that the improvements made have gone a long way toward putting our school system on a basis, which, it would seem, must commend itself to our citizens, and secure in its behalf their hearty co-operation and approval. In the work that has been done, leading educators have been consulted, and their suggestions followed as far as seemed practicable in view of existing conditions.

Our High School, which received such a complete vindication at the hands of our citizens, last spring has been steadily progressing along definite lines, and is, we believe, achieving substantial success. The completion of its Classical course will fit pupils for advanced standing in any of our academies or preparatory schools. A chemical laboratory has been added and experiments are made daily by both teacher and pupils.

In the matter of repairs and improvements, much has been done to render our school-homes healthful and attractive. Early in the spring the Old Orchard Ladies' Club kindly contributed fifteen dollars which was used to good advantage in improving and beautifying the interior of the home of the Intermediate and Primary schools. The interest and spirit of helpfulness shown by the Club as an organization, and the time and attention given by individual members, has not only been gratifying to the Committee, but has been a source of inspiration and encouragement in their work.

At the large schoolhouse, the sanitary conditions, which were not only a source of discomfort and inconvenience, but a direct menace to health, have been met and successfully obviated. The old toilet rooms have been removed and new ones placed in each of the lower halls of the building and sewer connections made. The best of materials have been used in the construction; and the new arrangement has proven satisfactory from every point of view. The heating apparatus, which was found to be wholly inadequate to keep the rooms at a comfortable temperature during the winter, has been thoroughly renovated and now does good service. The roof of the large schoolhouse has also been repaired and rendered water-tight.

In the work of the Committee, the new member, Mrs. Luce, has proven herself a valuable accession and deserves great credit for her energetic and tireless endeavors to improve and elevate our schools. We have at the present time an able and efficient corps of teachers, striving by every means in their power to inculcate into the minds of their pupils those truths and principles, which if followed aright, shall prove "a lamp to their feet and a light to their path"; fitting them to adorn any station in life to which they may aspire. For truly, "Knowledge is power," and the children of today will be the men and women of tomorrow.

OLD ORCHARD FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

At a special Town meeting, April 11th, 1899, the following were elected as Trustees: Austin H. Fiske, for one year; A. Leon Jones, for two years; and William F. Fernald, for three years.

At the first meeting we organized as follows: Austin H. Fiske, Chairman; A. Leon Jones, Treasurer; and William F. Fernald, Secretary.

The Free Public Library has become fully recognized on its merits in this country as is apparent in the great and rapid increase of library provisions, facilities, and patronage.

We are pleased to report that the increased card issue and circulation during the past year in our library shows a constantly developing use and appreciation of the facilities afforded by an institution like this.

Of the donors to our Library, we must speak especially of the generous benefaction of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Smith, of Brookline, Mass., well known summer visitors here, who presented the Library the past year with over two hundred volumes; this collection consisted of many rare books, old master pieces, classics and medical works.

The trustees desire to express their great appreciation for this thoughtful and generous liberality of Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Other friends have generously donated books and periodicals. We must say however that the donations in books and money did not come up to expectations. The summer visitors find in the privileges offered by the library a source of much enjoyment and pleasure.

On Feb. 3rd, 1899, an entertainment was given at Porter's Hall by local talent, and the proceeds were used in purchasing books for the boys and girls.

Through the efforts of several of the public spirited ladies of the town, a "Charity Whist Party" was given on the eighteenth of April, 1899, at "The Abbott," and from the proceeds were purchased twenty one volumes of standard fiction, which were kindly donated.

A course of lectures given under the auspices of the Debating Club, assisted by the Old Orchard Club, will net sufficient money to purchase books to the amount of thirty five dollars.

We must bespeak our praise and indebtedness to the gentlemen from Saco and Biddeford: Messers Burbank, Bradbury, Locke, Stacy, to be followed by Messers Yonland and Bradlee. These lectures are delivered free of charge, and have been of great instruction and interest.

Several volumes of magazines have been bound and now are in an attractive and permanent form ready for circulation: whereas as loose magazines they were practically useless and unsuitable for circulation, containing a vast amount of valuable information and not accessible to the public.

We find that an item of expense in the future will be that of binding, as the old and popular books wear out with much careless handling and require repairing.

Many libraries are trying to improve the character of their circulation by allowing two books on a card, only one of which can belong to the department of fiction. All the librarians who have tried this plan, report a manifest improvement and the circulation of a higher grade of books.

We think that the schools and clubs in the town find the Library an essential element in their work. The public schools and the public library are both instrumentalities of public education. Between two such institutions the closest possible connection is desirable in order that the co-operation may bring the greatest good to the greatest number.

We look forward with pleasant anticipations to the library rooms in the new town building, where there will be better facilities for carrying on the work; also a reading and reference room, which we trust will enhance the benefits to be derived from the library.

Mrs. C.-M. Yates, who has served as Librarian to December, '99, on account of leaving town, resigned, and Mrs. Mary W. Means, was secured to serve in this capacity. The Trustees gladly testify to the admirable services rendered by these ladies.

CIRCULATION.

During the year, 6,616 books have been loaned. Daily average circulation, 63. The largest number delivered in one day, July 22nd, 145. Smallest number June 14th, 21. 458 cards have been issued, 339 of them issued to summer residents. There has been collected $22.64 for fines.

ACCESSIONS.

The accessions for the past year are 516 volumes. Of these, 41 were purchased, 449 by gift, and 26 by binding pamphlets and periodicals. 244 pamphlets, 30 volumes have been withdrawn. Total number of volumes 1793; unbound serials 965; making a total in Library, Jan. 31st, 1900, 2,758.

The volumes purchased include works of many of the latest writers: "The Story of our Post Office"; "The Phillippines"; and others of valuable interest. Among the bound volumes are Corbin's Commentary on the Bible; Dictionary of Commerce and Manufacture; The Maine Bugle; "The Organ of the Men of Maine Who Served in the War of the Rebellion"; Cosmopolitan; Current Literature; Harpers Magazine; McClures; Munseys; Review of Reviews; St. Nicholas, and others.

All the books and pamphlets issued by the State of Maine, which were sent to the Town Clerk prior to opening of our Library, have been placed in the Library, as the law directs

DONATIONS.

Mrs. E. A. Strain, of Melrose, Mass., a summer cottager here, kindly donated twenty eight bound volumes of Harpers Magazine with other books. We are desirous of having complete sets of all the Magazines, and hope our friends will preserve and donate to the Library. H. B. Bennett, one seal press; Mrs. Burton, cash; and many other donors as per appended list, to all of whom we feel grateful: also to all others who have manifested an interest in our Library by their contributions; and hope we shall receive the same co-operation in the future.

During the past year we have curtailed our purchases of many books, as we did not have the proper room. The Treasurer's report shows an unexpended balance on hand, $105.17, which will be expended as soon as we get into our new rooms.
