PUBLIC LIBRARY

To the Citizens of Old Orchard:

The Board of Trustees of the Old Orchard Free Public Library Association herewith present their annual report for your consideration.

The Trustees have endeavored to give to the reading public of the town, the best equipment and service possible with the means at hand. We are hampered considerably by lack of room and if in the near future some addition might be made it would be of great benefit. It will be seen by the Librarian's report that a steady gain in books circulated, and patrons of the reading room indicate an increased interest in the institution.

This year a new, up-to-date dictionary has taken the place of the one that has served so many years. Two new magazines have been added, making a list of over twenty, covering a wide range of subjects, so that any one who cares to spend some time in the reading room can be interested.

It has become necessary to employ an assistant whose duties are to oversee the reading room and be of general help to the Librarian. Miss Kathryn Whitman is at present employed in that capacity.

The Trustees would be pleased to have lists of books desired, sent in by any of the patrons of the Library.

Respectfully submitted,

C. R. L. SNOW,

B. M. WHITMAN,

MRS. K. L. LUCE.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

HEALTH OFFICER

To the Selectmen and Citizens at Old Orchard, Maine:

The Health Officer submits his Annual Report:

It is pleasing to be able to report that Old Orchard continues to maintain such a high standing of healthfulness.

Our locality and environment constitute a natural sanitarium, and we, as a community, should be united in our efforts to remove any conditions that will detract from Nature's generous provision for our health and prosperity.

In order to keep up this high standard, we must have a liberal appropriation for our sanitary department. Numerous complaints this year relative to nuisances have been investigated, and all such have been abated, so far as possible.

On account of the merchants' opening their places of business early and the incoming summer visitors and the large accumulations of rubbish during the autumn and winter, we were obliged to start our work the first of May, a month earlier than ever before. With so many winter residents in Old Orchard, there should be a dump provided near the town, where they can dispose of the waste after the teams are taken off. It has become a necessity now in order to preserve the health of the town.

Owing to the increase of visitors at Ocean Park, the man who collects the rubbish there, will need a helper this year, and this will necessarily increase the expenses of the Sanitary Department.

The approach to the dump at Ocean Park will have to be filled in with gravel this year and this is also an extra expense to be provided for in the amount set aside for the Sanitary Department.

Thanking you for the help and encouragement given me during the year,

Respectfully,

F. P. WEYMOUTH,

Health Officer.

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT

To the Citizens and Tax Payers of Old Orchard:

The Department has responded to 23 calls during the year. A majority of them were grass fires, however, and in most cases no damage resulted, or very little. A very serious fire was fought on the W. L. White property, July 2. Help was called from Portland, Biddeford and Saco, and with their efficient aid the conflagration, which threatened to sweep the business section, was held on the property where it originated, except that some sparks set fire to the Payheur building on Imperial street, which caused some damage.

On the evening of October 2 a dwelling house at Pine Park was totally destroyed. While out of the fire district, the company with fire truck was sent to render assistance.

The Titlebaum residence on Imperial street was damaged by fire Nov. 19th as was the Breen cottage on Walnut street, Nov. 24th.

We should have 1,000 feet of new hose this year.

The Fire Alarm system was all rewired with new No. 9 triple plate wire, and work was done according to the fire underwriters' rules.

I would recommend at least two summer firemen for duty under pay.

As you know, our Fire Company is a τ.π. company, and not always readily accessible when a call is rung in. We should also have more room for apparatus. As the stable needs repairing I would suggest that the building be enlarged at the time of the other work.

Respectfully submitted,

THEODORE H. MINGO, Chief.

DENTAL EXAMINER'S REPORT

To the Superintendent of Schools, Old Orchard, Maine:

I herewith submit my report as Dental Examiner in the public schools for the year ending December 31, 1922:

While I did not find as much improvement in the character of the teeth as I had hoped for, yet I found a decided improvement over last year.

Last year, out of 171 pupils examined, I could report only three with perfect teeth, while this year, I am able to report twenty-six out of 205.

By a comparison of records obtained through the examination of 127 pupils for two consecutive years, the first year's records show a total of 670 cavities, while the records of this year, show a total of 587 cavities, making a difference of 83 cavities.

This does not look much on paper, but when you consider that this period extended only over eight and one-half months, it will show that some parents did heed the examination to a limited extent, particularly if you consider the number there would have been had there not been any care taken at all.

Respectfully submitted,

CECIL P. BROWN,

SCHOOL REPORT

To the Citizens of Old Orchard:

The problems of the future, rather than the details of the past year are the matters which your superintendent should outline at this time in the space which is allotted to him. This is his duty, not only to the school children, present and future, but also to the tax-payers who are seeking for the development of a school system on the basis of true economy. The past year has been one of intensification of work, rather than the development of new educational projects and the progress has been most satisfactory in matters of curriculum and of extra-curricular activity. With this assurance, supplemented by examples in the remainder of the report, we can well turn our attention to the future.

Old Orchard Is Progressive.

Old Orchard is a most progressive town. Its citizens may well point with pride to the many improvements which have been made in the past few years. The unusual number of cement sidewalks, the improvement of the fire department through modernized fire fighting apparatus and increased water pressure, the successful advertising of the natural advantages of the town as a summer resort, the efforts to remedy the dust nuisance by oiling the streets, the oiling of the marshes, the up-to-date health station, the first class lighting system, the cleaning of the beach during the summer, and perhaps most of all, the proposed installation of septic sewage tanks, recommended by experts, and to be installed at a considerable cost,—all of these are evidence of the progressive spirit of the town. Old Orchard has benefitted from these improvements. In the short period of nine years, the valuation of the town has considerably more than doubled.

Her Schools Are Progressive.

Old Orchard has also been progressive and fortunate in the development of its school system. It is fortunate in having a consolidated system which lends itself to economy and efficiency. School officials, all over the country are endeavoring by every possible means to bring about conditions which we already enjoy. Through the wisdom of former town officials, thoughtfully supported by the citizens of the town, the vexing problems of consolidation and transportation have been solved for us.

Furthermore, we have the most approved school organization,—with the Junior-Senior High School plan, and able teachers. Larger educational systems have endeavored, even during the past year, to employ our teachers, but, thanks to the fact that the town has voted sufficient money to maintain this excellent corps of teachers and to supply them with all the material they can use in our present school buildings, efforts to "raid" our force have been unsuccessful. Continuation of service, professional spirit, and cooperation marks our teaching staff through the entire twelve grades. It is significant that teachers of our lower grades are now working on some projects which are primarily for the benefit of the higher grades.

For all of this, we may well be truly thankful. We may well consider with gratitude the good judgment of past officials and the splendid spirit of present teachers. But a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, and the very weak link which endangers our present and future system is the entirely inadequate school buildings.

The developments of the past year, while producing no tangible results, were, nevertheless, indicative of progress. The problem was carefully studied by the committee of twelve citizens, to whom the town owes its gratitude. The best types of school plans were submitted by an expert in school architecture. Dr. Payson Smith, commissioner of education for Massachusetts, a man whose opinion is respected throughout the country, studied the situation and saw not only the need but also the advisability of the proposed plans. Josiah W. Taylor, state agent for secondary education most heartily recommended our project. Even the fact that the project was finally defeated should not blind us to the thoughtful attention which was given to the needs and to the desire for the best which was in evidence.

We Need a New Building.

The need still exists and is still increasing. The registration for the fall term of 1922 showed an increase of nearly seven per cent over the registration for the fall term of 1921. In the ten years since 1912, the school census has shown an increase of over 36 per cent.

If we do not provide adequate school houses for these children, we lay ourselves open to several dangers. First, a distinct loss will come to the town when native boys and girls go away to secure the elementary and high school education necessary for successful preparation for life. They will thereby become, to a certain extent alienated from their home town, and because they, in later years, will feel that it did not do its duty by them, they will be "knockers" rather than "boosters". Again if we do not begin a progressive plan of improvement of our school plant, we may eventually be compelled to resort to teachers of lower ability. Our teachers will be glad to put their shoulder to the wheel and help matters along, but nothing discourages like stagnation.

Perhaps most important to the tax-payer is the fact that we are inviting ever increasing financial leaks by continuing with our present plant. During the next year, for instance, we must provide a room for proper storage of school property, used in various places, because of the congestion, during part of the year and demanding attention during the remainder of the year. While town officials deserve our thanks for allowing the use of the court room and town hall, the use of these places brings additional financial burdens. During the next year, also, we must provide a new furnace and improvement of the sanitary conditions at the high school. On account of the inadequacy and deterioration of the present heating plant we are unduly wasting the energy and patience of our good-natured janitor and consuming an unnecessary amount of coal. While a program for permanent improvement is being developed, even if it were to be started today, we will have to continue our expensive patching processes.

Thus under present conditions we are wasting money, fuel, and, most important, the energy of teachers and pupils who are working under poor conditions.

True Economy.

True economy is our watch-word. It is becoming more and more necessary. For several years, owing to the saving possible through our consolidated system and the plan of state grants, we received almost enough money from the state to run our schools. This year, owing to the new apportionment of the state school mill fund and the common school mill fund, the town received $2,178.66 less from those funds than it did in 1921.

We must make a start. If it is still necessary, let us again reopen the question and employ the best experts that can be found to assist in determining the best location, type of building, etc., to meet present and future needs. Let the town, if it seems desirable, begin to set aside a regular sinking fund to accumulate while we are discovering what is best. The new building is necessary for the present physical plant cannot be thought of as the foundation for future building. Let us do something speedily toward laying the foundation for a school system which will be enduring.

We have, in Old Orchard, an efficient school board, to which I wish at this time to express my sincere appreciation of the splendid and thoughtful way in which they have attacked school problems during the past year. We have a splendid staff of teachers, to whom our successes have been largely due. We need a still stronger community interest and understanding of the educational work of the town. That is the foundation on which any successful work must rest and with it, we will solve our present plant problem without delay. Then we will replace the weakest link in Old Orchard's chain of progressiveness by a school plant which will be a monument to the wisdom of the present generation.

Respectfully submitted,

F. H. B. HEALD,

Superintendent.

HIGH SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

School opened September 11 with the largest registration we have ever had. Our attendance this year has been the best since our organization as a Junior-Senior High School six years ago. We have the same corp of teachers as last year with one exception. Mrs. Dolly was engaged to teach Music. Under her very efficient direction we are obtaining excellent results.

Our dental and medical inspections were carried out this year the same as last. In addition this year we had the assistance of our district nurse, Miss Dunn.

The Oceanic this year will be just as good as in years past if not a little better. This will be ready about March first. Our athletics this year are not occupying quite as prominent a place in our school life as in the past few years. We had no track team last fall and have no boys' basketball team this winter, due to lack of material for such teams. The girls, however, have an excellent team this year and under the very able coaching of Miss Hughes are certain to be a credit to the school and town.

A few new books have been added to our library this year. We have also availed ourselves of the opportunity of using one of the state traveling libraries.

I wish to bring to your attention the fact that your teachers are all doing their very best under the conditions which they have to work. Until the people of Old Orchard interest themselves in the schools and become acquainted with the existing conditions, until they compare these conditions with more modern and up-to-date conditions they must not expect further advancement. Your teachers have all done their very best to make Old Orchard schools second to none. They have done their part. Further advancement is dependant upon the citizens and upon them alone.

We as teachers appreciate the hearty cooperation and support which you and the Superintending School Committee have always given us. We sincerely thank you for this loyal support.

FRANK H. JEWETT,
Principal.
